Julianna Nemeth, MA, is the Prevention Director at HelpLine of Delaware and Morrow Counties, Inc. As such, she oversees the coordination of the prevention education initiatives that HelpLine provides around the topics of Suicide Prevention, Sexual and Family Violence Prevention, and Child Sexual Assault Prevention. In addition, she supports the implementation of the Sexual Assault Response Network, a program of HelpLine.

Since the mid-1990s, Julianna has been actively involved as a volunteer and professional with social justice advocacy work. As an advocate, her primary work focuses on the ways in which cultural identity, privilege, and oppression inform our ability to provide effective prevention and intervention services to those in the community.

She is a certified trainer for i-SAFE, Stewards of Children and LifeSkills. Julianna is also the current convener of the Delaware County Suicide Prevention Coalition and the PEACE (Prevention Education in All Classroom Environments) Collaborative and is the co-chair of the Ohio Sexual and Intimate Partner Violence Prevention Consortium. In addition, she is active on the Delaware and Morrow Sexual Assault Response Teams and is working to found the Ohio Alliance to End Sexual Violence.
